The prospects of Sweden and Finland joining NATO will ultimately be decided by how many people feel the same way as Peter Gustavsson.

A long-time Social Democrat lawmaker in the Swedish city of Uppsala who now edits a party newsletter in Stockholm, Gustavsson says Moscows decision to attack Ukraine has scrambled the security picture facing Russias neighbours and it is now time for Sweden to join the defence alliance.

It is a whole new chapter, Gustavsson said. We need to reconsider how we position ourselves.
