Iraqs Popular Mobilization Units (PMU), an umbrella organization composed of the Arab countrys resistance groups, has fired artillery shells at a position of the remnants of the Daesh (ISIS) terrorists in northern Iraq.

In a statement issued on Sunday, the PMU, better known as Hashd al-Shaabi, said the Brigade 22 launched an artillery attack on a Daesh position on al-Ayth Island, east of Salahuddin Province.

It asked the Iraqis not to worry as long as the PMU forces exist.
