As the press service of the Ministry of Investments reported, during the conversation, an exchange of views took place on the effectiveness of platforms for jointly resolving issues of bilateral cooperation, in particular, the potential of the strategic partnership dialogue was noted, the first meeting within which was held in December 2021.

The commitment of the two countries to continue close cooperation on the regional agenda, including within the framework of the C5+1 initiative, which has become an effective and important tool for strengthening peace, stability and prosperity in Central Asia, was also emphasized.

Along with this, the meeting participants reviewed the current state of the process of Uzbekistan's accession to the WTO, referring to the reduction of the states participation in the economy, the improvement of customs administration, issues of technical regulation and ensuring intellectual property rights. The American side expressed readiness to continue assisting Uzbekistan in the process of joining the organization.
