Georgia is ready to work with the international community for the sustainable development of the UN. This summit has created a platform to strengthen global cooperation, and now the main task is to implement the commitments made, stated Georgian Prime Minister Irakli Kobakhidze during his speech at the UN Future Summit in New York on September 23.

What Kobakhidze said at the summit:

Three years ago, the UN Secretary-General proposed holding a Future Summit to achieve global consensus on creating a better present and a safer future for the next generations.
