Kabar (29 January 2025)

Almaty hosts today the 5th EU-Central Asia Civil Society Forum being attended by more than 150 representatives from EU institutions, UN agencies, regional governments, and civil society organizations (CSOs), Kazinform reported citing the official website of the EU Delegation to Kazakhstan.

The three-day event is organized by the United Nations Office for Project Services (UNOPS) in the framework of the EU Civil Society Facility for Central Asia funded by the European Union (EU).

The forum agenda includes critical issues shaping the regions future, such as digital transformation, climate change, youth participation, and womens empowerment.
