The fundamental principle of mutual recognition of the territorial integrity of Armenia and Azerbaijan has been clearly expressed at all stages of the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict negotiation process, Armenian Foreign Minister Ararat Mirzoyan said during the Parliament-Government question-and-answer session.

While responding to criticism that the authorities are using the document on the dissolution of Nagorno-Karabakh to cover up the fact of recognizing Nagorno-Karabakh as part of Azerbaijan in Prague in 2022, the FM said:

"I must state something that is, on the one hand, a well-known fact, and on the other hand, something that relevant officials have long refused to publicly acknowledge -perhaps so that the mood would not drop. That fact is the following: the Republic of Armenia has never recognized the Nagorno-Karabakh Republic.
