The text of the new constitution is currently under development and the work is coordinated by the justice ministry, the Minister of Justice Srбуhi Galyan has said.

I've always said that the text will be ready within ten months, she said at a press conference. As soon as it is ready, it will be presented to the public with separate conceptual provisions. Sufficient timeframes will be ensured for the people to be able to form an opinion. After all, the people will vote either for or against the new constitution, she said.

The process proceeds on the basis of a single concept but comprehensive discussions are held regarding various norms.
