Iran will not allow anyone to undermine its relations with neighboring Armenia, Ali Akbar Ahmadian, the secretary of Irans Supreme National Security Council, reportedly told his visiting Armenian counterpart Armen Grigorian at the weekend.

Grigorian visited Tehran to attend an international security forum held there. He also held separate meetings with Irans President Masoud Pezeshkian, Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi as well as Ahmadian.

According to Iranian news agencies, Ahmadian described relations between the two neighboring nations as strategic and said they should be expanded without restrictions.
