The EU said it is ready to support its members and partner countries in developing a new cooperation framework to move forward with the Connectivity Agenda, Trend reports.

The proposal will be presented for discussion and further work at the Trans-Caspian Transport Corridor Investors and Connectivity Forum in Tashkent on November 27.

The statement followed the Ministerial Meeting on Cross-Regional Security and Connectivity held on October 20 in Luxembourg, bringing together representatives from EU Member States, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, the Republic of Moldova, Tajikistan, Türkiye, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, and Uzbekistan.
