Anadolu Agency (6 November 2025)

Thailands King Maha Vajiralongkorn Phra Vajiraklaochaoyuhua will visit China next week, marking the first trip by a Thai monarch to the country since the two nations established diplomatic relations in 1975.

The Chinese Foreign Ministry said King Maha will pay a state visit from Oct. 13 to 17 at the invitation of President Xi Jinping, as Beijing and Bangkok commemorate the 50th anniversary of bilateral ties.

During his stay in Beijing, King Maha is expected to meet President Xi and other senior Chinese officials.
