Cambodia urged the UN to deploy an independent fact-finding mission to ascertain the facts on the ground amid its conflict with Thailand in a letter to the UN Secretary-General, according to a statement from the Foreign Ministry on Thursday.

Antonio Guterres was urged to unequivocally condemn Thailand's unprovoked armed aggression against Cambodia and demand an immediate cessation of all attacks by Thailand in the letter.

Phnom Penh called on the UN to "demand that the Thai Armed Forces immediately cease their illegal armed aggression against Cambodia, halt all attempts to invade or encroach on Cambodia's sovereignty and territory through the use of unilaterally-drawn maps, and fully respect internationally recognized borders and legally binding instruments, as well as cease all violations of international humanitarian law.
