China and Africa are rising irresistibly, Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi said, noting that the world was undergoing profound changes amid the law of the jungle.

Wang made the remarks at the African Union (AU) headquarters in the Ethiopian capital Addis Ababa, according to Chinese state-run Xinhua news.

The world today is undergoing profound changes unseen in a century, with major historical shifts taking place in the international landscape," Wang said Thursday, stressing that the Global South, represented by China and Africa, is "rising irresistibly.
