Russian Foreign Ministry says its head Sergey Lavrov had 'frank and substantive exchange of views' with Armenian parliament Speaker Alen Simonyan.

Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov warned Armenian parliament Speaker Alen Simonyan of the "risks of rapprochement with the West to the detriment of cooperation with traditional allies" during a meeting in Moscow on Thursday.

The Russian Foreign Ministry said in a statement that the two officials had "a frank and substantive exchange of views ... on current issues in Russian-Armenian relations."
