Turkmenistan and China have formalized a general agreement outlining the fundamental principles of cooperation within the gas sector, Trend reports via the press service of the Turkmen government.

This agreement was part of a series of bilateral documents signed at the conclusion of the seventh meeting of the Turkmen-Chinese Intergovernmental Committee on Cooperation, held in Ashgabat.

Included in the signed documents were the meeting protocol and a five-year cooperation program for the period 2026-2030. In addition, the two sides agreed to establish mutual cultural centers and signed a memorandum addressing cooperation in the fields of transport and logistics.
