Kazakhstan has offered to host Middle East peace negotiations in its southern city of Turkestan, Foreign Minister Yermek Kosherbayev announced Sunday following talks with Qatari Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Sheikh Mohammed bin Abdulrahman Al Thani in Doha.

Kosherbayev raised the proposal during the meeting and reaffirmed Kazakhstan's standing position that all conflicts must be resolved through political and diplomatic means, consistent with international law and the principles of the UN Charter. The Kazakh Foreign Ministry said the two ministers held an in-depth exchange of views on pressing international and regional issues, particularly the current situation in the Middle East.
