All nuances of Armenia's EAEU membership to be worked out before December, spokesman says after Russian, Armenian leaders' phone talks.

Russian President Vladimir Putin and Armenian Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan discussed the fate of Yerevan's membership in the Eurasian Economic Union (EAEU), the Kremlin said on Monday.

Speaking at a press briefing in Moscow, Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said the two leaders, during a phone call earlier in the day, touched upon all aspects of the issue, including a statement by other EAEU member states on the need to hold a referendum in Armenia to determine whether its people see their future with the European Union or the EAEU.
