*The European Parliament hosted a roundtable discussion entitled Kazakhstan's New Political Modernization and the Future of the Kazakhstan EU Strategic Partnership, Qazinform News Agency reports, citing the MFA press service.*

The meeting brought together Members of the European Parliament, diplomats, representatives of the expert community, think tanks, and media organizations to discuss the reforms being implemented in Kazakhstan and the prospects for further development of cooperation between Kazakhstan and the European Union.

The event generated significant interest among European political and expert circles. Approximately 70 participants took part in the discussion, demonstrating the high level of attention being paid to the transformations taking place in Kazakhstan and the country's role in fostering cooperation between Europe and Central Asia.
