Judicial digitalization and the protection of investor rights are becoming increasingly important areas of cooperation among Turkic states, as countries across the region seek to modernize legal systems and boost economic competitiveness, said President Kassym-Jomart Tokayev during a meeting with chairpersons of supreme courts of member countries of the Organization of Turkic States (OTS) on June 18 in Astana.

Judicial officials arrived in Kazakhstan to participate in the second conference of the supreme courts of OTS member states scheduled for June 19 in Turkistan.

Among those present at the meeting were Azerbaijan Supreme Court Chief Justice Inam Karimov, Kyrgyz Supreme Court Chairman Mederbek Satyev, Turkish Court of Cassation President Ömer Kerkez, Turkish Council of State President Zeki Yiğit, and First Deputy Chairman of Uzbekistans Supreme Court Alisher Usmanov.
